F1 career beckoning

CARDIFF'S Gareth Rees is on the verge of an F1 racing career.

He faces a busy August at the European F3 championship starting this weekend in Austria before it moves to Hockenheim and Spa circuits.

After a disappointing start to the season he has swept up the board to 9th place.

He is driving for the Danish team, Den Bla Avis feels at home.

"All the mechanics and engineers are British," said Gareth.

Success in F3 is often regarded as a step into F1 and Gareth hopes he will take the championship and join one of the elite.
